

Laura Spotorno is in charge of Investor Relations and Corporate Communication at AMCO – Asset Management Company S.p.A.

Born in Varese in 1970, she graduated in Economics and Business at Bocconi University, where she became Chartered Accountant, and briefly worked as teaching assistant at SDA Bocconi in the Finance Department.

Her professional experience is focused on the banking sector and on financial markets, enriched with working experiences in corporate communication.

Between 2010 and 2019 she covered different positions in UniCredit Group, first as Head of Equity Investor Relations within the Investor Relations team, then in the internal communication function, first as responsible for Corporate internal communication, then as Head of Group Internal Communication.

Between July 2016 and July 2017 she worked in BFF Banking Group (former Banca Farnafactoring) as Head of Investor Relations, Strategy and Communication, where she worked on the IPO project, being deeply involved both in the internal process and in the management of contacts with external consultants and investors, and created the Investor Relations function.

Laura started her professional career in JPMorgan in 1996, first in the M&A and equity capital markets sectors, then as equity analyst on Italian banks. She continued as equity analyst on Italian banks also in Santander, Caboto and Banca IMI.

From 2006 to 2009 Laura worked in Credit Agricole Asset Management (now Amundi) in the equity department as buy side analyst on European banks.